

Knowing, Praying, Living the Holy Scriptures

"How I have loved thy law, O Lord! The whole day it is my meditation." (Ps 118:97)

Joshua 10:24-25

"Then Joshua said to them, 'Do not be afraid of them, nor be fearful. Be courageous, for the Lord will do thus to all your enemies against whom you wage war.' After this, Joshua put them to death and hanged them on five trees. They hung on the trees until evening." (OSB)

After Israel's stinging defeat at Ai, followed by the discovery of Achan's sin and its purging, Israel is victorious over Ai (Josh 8). The subsequent conquest of the land occupies Joshua 9-11, divided between the "southern campaign" (chs. 9-10), including the deceptive pact with the Gibeonites, and the "northern campaign" (ch. 11). It is to be noted that the territory in the south that will be allotted to the Tribe of Judah, the Tribe of David and of our Lord in his humanity, receives the more detailed account.

As the Canaanites witness the fall of Jericho and then Ai, they rally to join forces in opposition to Joshua and Israel (Josh 9:1-2). Unlike an earlier king of Jerusalem (Salem), Melchizedek, who blessed Abraham and his family (Gen 14:18-22), Adonizedek calls a meeting of the "heads of the five families" to conspire against and oppose Israel by attacking the Gibeonites who had just joined Israel (Josh 10:1-6). The ensuing battle is a complete rout of the Canaanites (10:7-11), as the Lord Himself "crushes" His enemies, and rains "hailstones" on them as they scatter and flee from before His face (Ps 67:1-2), as we sing at Pascha.

Indeed, a normal day is not long enough to defeat God's enemies, and so God, at Joshua's request, causes the sun and moon to stand still to complete the pursuit and rout of the enemies (Josh 10:12-14). The five kings take refuge in a cave, and Joshua is ordered to "roll stones against the mouth of the cave and set men to guard them" (Josh 10:17). After the rout, Joshua orders the Israelites to put their feet on the necks of the kings, and then to "hang them on trees ... until evening" (10:24-25).

For us who know to ascend from the history and letter of these Old Covenant narratives to their spiritual reality, we cannot help but "hear and see" the mystery of our Lord's Passion and the Christian's ongoing spiritual warfare in this story. The defeat of the Canaanite kings is a kind of inverse spiritual picture of our Lord's own crucifixion, burial, and resurrection.

St. Paul can be understood as indicating this very thing in Colossians 2:13-15:

*When you were dead in your transgressions and the uncircumcision of your flesh, He made you alive together with Him, having forgiven us all our transgressions, having canceled out the certificate of debt consisting of decrees against us, which was hostile to us; and He has taken it out of the way, having nailed it to the cross. When He stripped off the rulers and authorities, He made a public display of them, having triumphed over them through Him.

Jesus defeats Death, Sin, and the devil and his demons by "putting them on" and taking them with Him to the Cross, to the Tomb, to Hades, and He makes a "public spectacle" of them, "stripping them off" in His resurrection, which is our Liberation and Victory. We, the Church, as the "lesser light" of the moon, participate in the warfare and victory of the "greater light," Christ, "the Sun of righteousness" (Gen 1:16; Mal 3:20) when we actively "strip off the old man" and "put on the new" (Col 3:9-10). Through our cooperation with God, "the God of peace will soon crush Satan under [our] feet" (Rom 16:20).
